Subject: the new, convenient way to get your faxes – in your email.

Thank you for your interest in iFax.
We hope that you will find our service of benefit, as many others already do.

Some clients appreciate the convenience of being able to retrieve their faxes wherever they can access their email.

Others, such as HR or legal departments, need the privacy that getting confidential faxes in their email rather than on the public office fax machine gives them.

Others gain efficiency by being able to distribute faxes electronically around their office by email.

One client, who receives over 300 faxes every day, reduced a substantial monthly cost by replacing 8 fax machines and lines with a single iFax number.

There is no term contract, so why not give it a try.
Call us today to arrange your own iFax number, or to discuss your needs.
